It's Andover's Olde Home Day all this weekend

Andover's 10th annual Olde Home Day celebration will kick off on Friday evening with a band concert on the town common. The concert, a new addition to the annual festivities, will feature a brass band, a singer/guitarist and perhaps a third act, said Jane Rich, general chairman of the event.

Last year, despite withering heat, an estimated 5,000 people turned out for Olde Home Day, some from as far away as South Portland, Freeport and Gorham, N.H. This year an even bigger crowd is expected.

The theme for this year's Olde Home Day is anniversaries, since it is the 10th anniversary of the event and the 185th anniversary of the town.

Mrs. Rich asks that folks planning to attend the bandstand concert bring lawn chairs, so they can settle in comfortably to enjoy the music.

For younger people, there will be a dance in the town hall, beginning at 8:00.

Saturday's events start at 8:00 a.m., with registration at Akers Ski for the auto show. A variety of auto show activities are planned, concluding at 2:00 p.m. with awarding of trophies and the drawing of door prizes.

The Olde Home Day parade begins at 10:00, with line up and judging to take place at 9:00 on the road leading to the dump. Categories for this year's awards include horse, pony, horse-drawn vehicle, float, costumed person, marching unit and animal other than horse or pony. Anyone wishing to participate in the parade is invited to do so—especially children.

Westies advancing through PTL playoffs

The Keiser Homes "Westies" of West Paris continue their battle through the Pine Tree League playoff season this week.

The best-of-three semifinal series with Rumford began last night (Tuesday) at Rumford and will continue with a home game at friendly Perham Field tomorrow at 5:30. A third game, if necessary, will be played Sunday at Rumford.

The Westies posted a 13-5 regular season record, good for third place behind Lewiston and Rumford. In the playoff quarterfinals they swept Auburn in two games.

Player/coach Mark Thurlow thinks the current series should produce some outstanding baseball. The Westies had a 2-1 advantage over Rumford in regular season action, but all the games were close and well played. "We're pretty evenly matched," he said. "It could go either way."

The winner of the series will face either Lewiston or Lisbon for the league championship.

UNLUCKY STRIKE—Lightning Strikes Meant Fractured Trees, as afternoon thunderstorms rolled through the area last week. Here, Virginia Johnson, of Rumford Ave. in Bryant Pond, stands at the base of a tall pine tree that was shattered by lightning. In addition to splitting trees and playing havoc with unprotected appliances, the strikes started a fire that eventually burned three acres on Tumbledown Dick Mountain in Gilead. Firefighters from Bethel, Gilead, Newry and the forest service fought the remote blaze, aided by a forestry department helicopter that doused the fire with 45 loads of water scooped from the Androscoggin River. Sunday River service will reserve lodgings both on and off mountain

Sunday River Ski Resort last week announced a lodging referral program that it says will allow Bethel area lodging establishments to benefit more directly from the ski area's powerful marketing efforts.

Under the program, which was unveiled at a luncheon last week, Sunday River will set up an 800 telephone number that skiers can call to reserve lodgings both on and off the mountain.

Sunday River will advertise, promote and staff the new service. In return, participating lodging establishments would agree to keep a minimum number of rooms available for booking through the service, and would pay Sunday River a small commission on these bookings.

Lodgings participating in the program would also be eligible to take part in a new resort-services ticketing program. This new service will make it possible for guests to pick up their lift tickets at their inn or bed and breakfast, rather than waiting in line at the mountain.

The new programs are part of the ski area's attempts to spread its business out more evenly through the week. By increasing the number of beds it has available for skiers, Sunday River will

Hearing set for next week on Ta-Ka-Radi office and apartment project

The Bethel Planning Board will hold a public hearing on Wednesday, August 9, to hear comments on the proposed Ta-Ka-Radi Tiles and The Towers affordable housing project.

The project, which would be located on Route 2 near the West Bethel line, would include four, four-unit affordable-housing apartment buildings, and a fifth building containing an additional apartment unit, as well as an office and assembly plant for Jeff and Patty Parsons' Ta-Ka-Radi business.

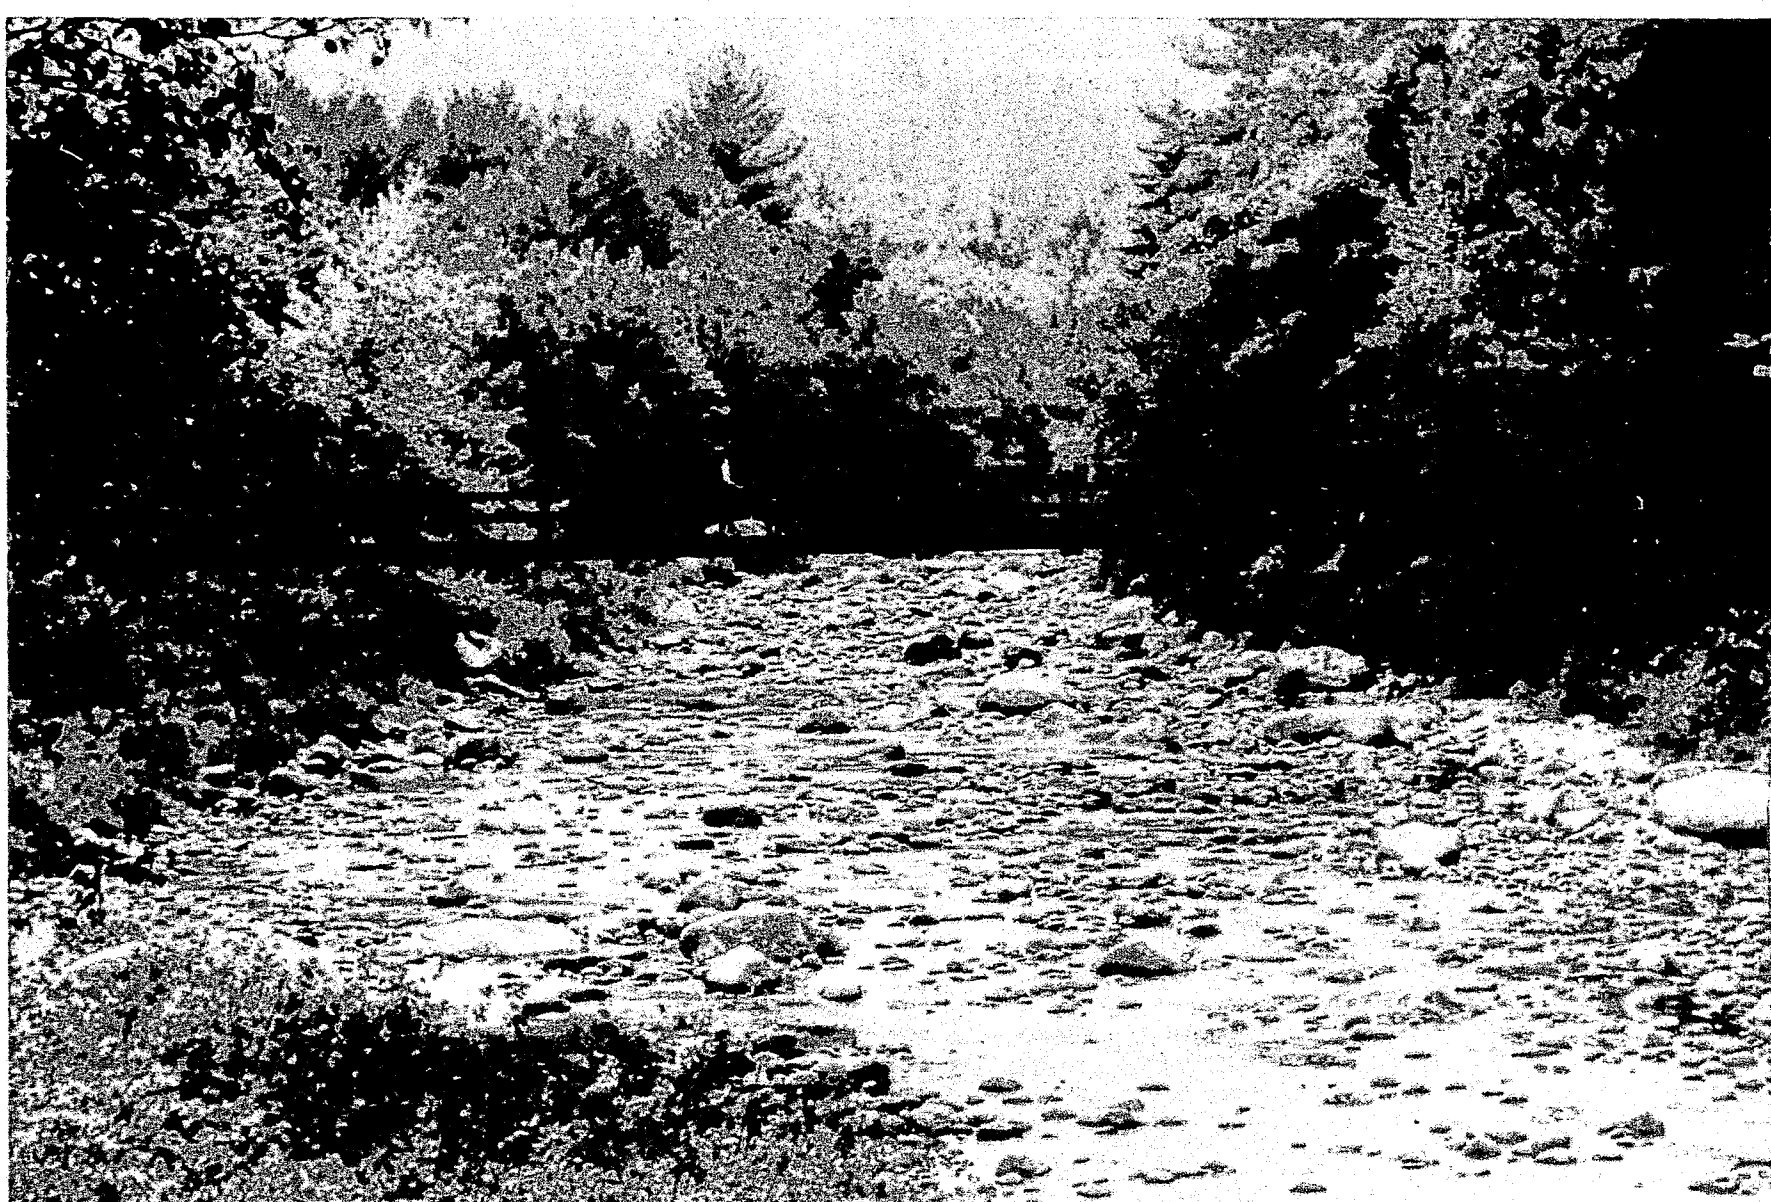

Mr. Parsons, the project developer, said that if all goes smoothly he hopes to have the office and assembly plant ready by this fall. Work on the apartment buildings probably would not begin before next year, he said.

Meeting last week, the planning board determined the project application to be complete except for a letter from the Bethel fire chief and a letter of financial commitment for the apartment part of the project.

Mr. Parsons said he hopes to finance construction of the apartments through a loan from the Farmers Home Administration, and he is currently dealing with the voluminous paperwork involved in securing such financing.

He estimated that a two-bedroom apartment in the complex would rent for approximately $380 a month.

The public hearing will be held at 7 p.m. in the town office.

DWARFED BY THE NATURE HE HELPS TO PROTECT, Jeff Franz, a volunteer backcountry host for the U.S. Forest Service, sets off across the Hastings suspension bridge on one of his daily patrols in the Evan's Notch district. A summer volunteer, Jeff strikes up conversations with hikers he meets along

College volunteer is rangers' eyes and ears in the outback

Hiking through the beautiful White Mountains, chatting with people you meet along the trail—it's the kind of job you can't believe you got paid for.

And, in fact, Jeff Franz, a backcountry host for the Evan's Notch Ranger District, gets only a small daily stipend for the miles he hikes and the many odd jobs he does along the way.

Jeff, an architecture major at the University of Florida, is a volunteer, filling a slot that until four years ago had been a full-time, paid summer position. When Reagan-era budget cuts put an end to the position, the district was forced to rely on part-time volunteers.

This summer, however, Jeff is filling the billet on a full-time basis, providing the district with eyes and ears in the outback.

"Jeff is our primary contact with users in the backcountry," said his supervisor, Assistant Ranger Rick McVey. Jeff strikes up conversations with the hikers he encounters on the trail or at overnight shelters, conversations which provide the district with first-hand information on usage patterns in the backcountry, as well as with the complaints, comments and general comments of hikers using the district.

Jeff's role is also educational, promoting the virtues of no trace camping, proper sanitation and fire use. And he fields hikers' questions—from general inquiries about logging in the national forests to more pressing specifics such as how long it will take to reach the next shelter.

Although he has no law-enforcement responsibilities, Jeff does check to see that people leading groups of hikers have the required outfitter-guide permit.

He also performs small trail-maintenance tasks, hauls trash when necessary, and periodically empties the collection buckets in the district's two backcountry composting toilets—"not the best part of the job, but it has to be done," he said.

Jeff roams the entire district, but concentrates his time in the heavily used Bald Face Mountain and White River areas.

He encounters solo hikers, large Outward Bound groups and everything in between, but the smaller groups are his favorite.

"We'll sit and talk—if the bugs aren't too bad," he said. "Some of the old-timers know the area better than the people at the station."

Campers, of course, tell stories. One veteran hiker Jeff encountered was a former advertising man for L.L. Bean, who told of how L.L. got his first buck. The Bean hunting camp, The Dew Drop Inn, was located near the Wild River, not far from the once-prosperous but now-vanished town of Hastings. Seems it was young L.L.'s turn to stay at the camp on one day, while the others in the party went out for deer. The hunters came back empty handed, but L.L. had spotted and shot a buck that turned up right behind the camp—or so the story goes.

Then there are the horror tales, often with forestry people as victims. And when the stories run out, there's always "the dreaded harmonica."

The stories and the people make up for the less attractive parts of the job, Jeff says—the bugs ("I thought Florida was bad, but I've haven't seen so many mosquitoes in my life. And I'd never seen a black fly.") and the occasional loneliness when the trail is long and hot and empty.

"At the end of the day sometimes you find yourself sitting with a book just waiting for the sun to go down."

When he's not staying out in the woods, Jeff tucks and sometimes eats at the National Guard's Bog Brook Training Facility. Even there, companionship is a sometimes thing. The Guard units rotate through, "but you make friends and then they're gone," Jeff says, "and it's sort of weird when no one else is out there."

The isolation was temporarily relieved on Mollycoddett Day, when Jeff was Snokey the Bear. "I'd never seen so many people in Maine," he says.

Jeff's plans for next summer are still open. He'd like to return to Evans Notch, but he also hopes to transfer to the University of Virginia, and may not be able to take the time off.

Rick McVey would love to have him back. "Everyone who's been in contact with Jeff has been really impressed," the ranger says. "He got along very well with people, and that's the key if you're making contacts in the backcountry. It's really rare for us to get someone of Jeff's caliber."

Task force works to increase childcare options and availability

Area residents concerned about child care are probably familiar with the statistical results of the childcare survey that were presented by the Childcare Task Force at three community meetings.

In response to further interest, however, the committee is releasing a brief analysis of the survey, and a brief summary of what has been accomplished toward meeting local childcare needs.

It became apparent to the committee early in the study of survey results that additional childcare providers are needed, especially in communities of SAD #4 that lie outside Bethel. Accordingly, it was suggested that Joyce Crockett, Coordinator of Finders Seekers Childcare Resource Development Center, and a member of the local task force, might offer a course to prospective child care providers through SAD #4's Adult Education Division.

Response to the course offering was excellent, and residents of Andover and Woodstock were among those attending the one-night overview course. This fall should see Ms. Crockett teaching a good sized group for the eight-week course that she humorously refers to as "All you River Wanted to Know and Didn't Know."

Sudbury Canada Days coming next weekend

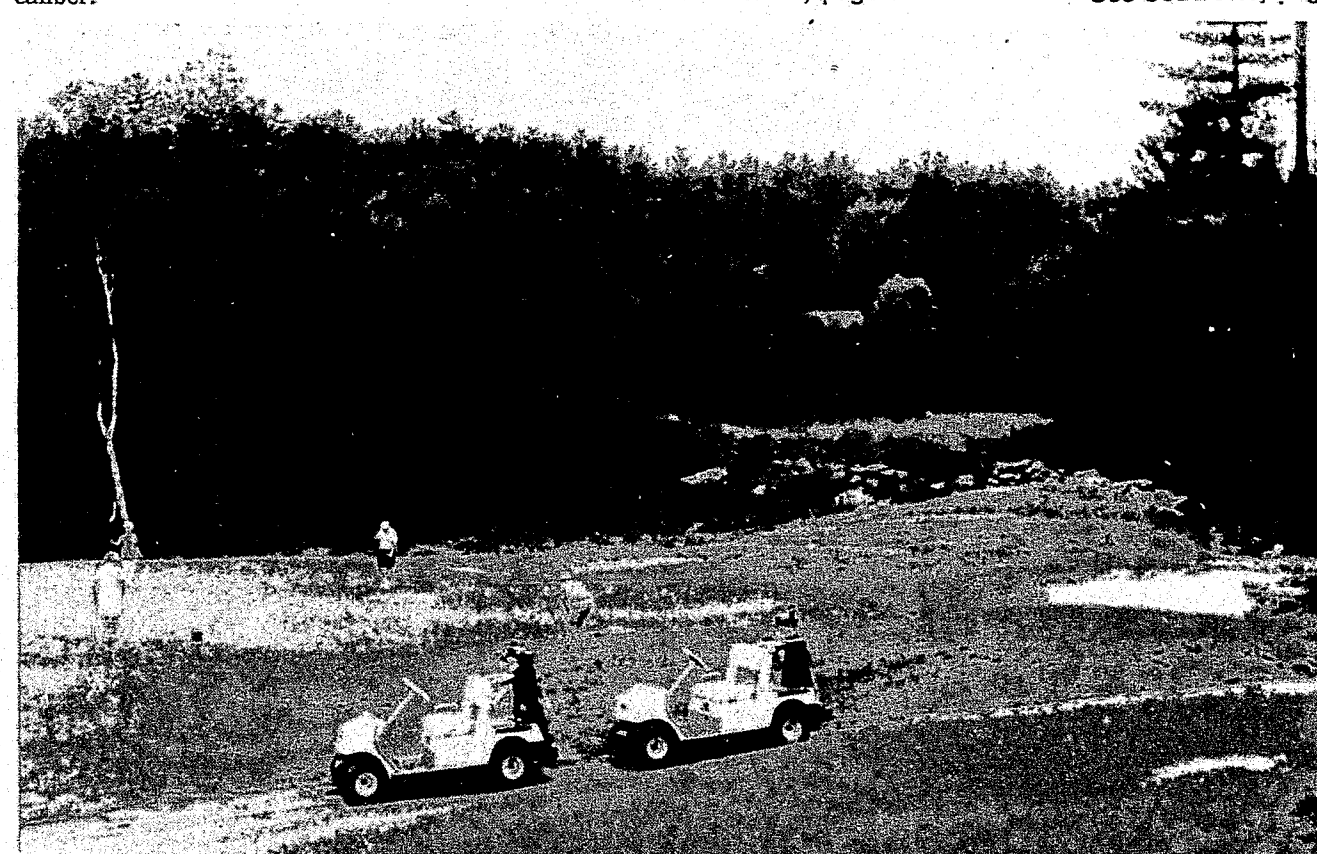

Sudbury Canada Days, the Bethel Historical Society's summer heritage festival, will be held this year on Aug. 12-13 at the Society's headquarters, the Dr. Moses Mason House.

This 10th annual event promises to be filled with a wide variety of events for all ages and interests. Sudbury Canada: the original name of Bethel, emphasizing the fact that the original grantee were from Sudbury, Mass., who received a grant from the Commonwealth of Massachusetts for participation in the campaign to conquer Canada in 1690. The festival emphasizes a heritage theme and focuses on old-time pastimes.

Leading off events will be the children's parade beginning at 1 p.m. on Saturday. The theme this year will be "All creatures great and small." This will be followed by a wide variety of children's games that were popular many years ago. A flower show featuring a wide variety of flowers will be again held in the Dr. Moses Mason House.

Historical videos, ranging from logging in the past to Maine's Indian heritage, will be shown both Saturday and Sunday continuously in the Dr. Mason House meeting room. Throughout Saturday afternoon, craft demonstrations and exhibits from spinning to

THE BEST DAM HOLE IN MAINE, in fact, probably the only golf hole in the state to play over a picturesque 19th-century dam. Players on the 3rd hole of the Bethel Inn's new 18-hole championship golf course must launch their drives over the stone embankments of the Mill Brook Dam. On Aug. 14-16, the new course will host the Women's Maine State Golf Championship, and on Aug. 28-29 the Inaugural State of Maine Pro-Am Championship will be played here.

Many veterans' benefits are going unclaimed

Although over $32 billion was paid out in veterans benefits last year, billions more went unclaimed in the past few years.

Every year eligibility for benefits and the array of available benefits are changed and very few veterans or their survivors keep up with the latest rules. Because of this and changes in their circumstances many veterans, their families and survivors are now entitled to money and other benefits from their state and the federal government, even though they were not eligible in the past.

These were the findings of a study group of the Consumer Education Research Center, a 20-year-old national non-profit consumer group. They found that over one-fourth of the money paid in veterans benefits goes to persons who

Americans love being charitable

Americans love helping others, giving to charitable causes, providing assistance for those who need it, whether through direct aid to individuals or assistance to agencies that assist individuals.

Aside from giving through fundraising drives, local residents also give each year when the various town meetings approve monetary support for area agencies that help the needy.

A new super-agency has now been formed in Oxford County, whose purpose is to streamline the fundraising process. The county United Way, formed last month, expects to begin fundraising this fall, with the goal of collecting about $75,000 for non-profit agencies that sign up with United Way. About 16 area agencies have thus far expressed interest in joining with the fundraising organization.

As a professional fundraising organization, United Way brings a wealth of expertise into the practice of collecting donations. From written instruction books on how to set about organizing a fund-raising drive to the well-known salary check-offs, the United Way works efficiently.

But questions remain about where the money goes.

In the upcoming Oxford County campaign, United Way officials expect that 17 percent of the money collected will go towards overhead, with 1 percent going to the national organization.

The remaining money will be given to those area agencies that are accepted as part of United Way, and the amounts those agencies receive will be determined by a United Way committee.

The United Way method of collecting and distributing charity may be the most efficient way of helping area agencies, but it might also be perceived as just another bureaucracy—like a government bureau of taxation—whose main goal is increased collections.

The organization should make it clear at the outset of its upcoming campaign which local agencies will be helped, and to what extent. The businesses that will be asked to assist in the drive, and the individuals who donate should be told ahead of time where their money will be going, including the 17 percent for overhead.

Letters to the editor

To the Editor:

To the People of Bethel:

On behalf of the Spanish-American Youth Exchange program, I would like to thank you, the community, for all of your contributions to the Exchange which helped make our Spanish guests feel welcome. Over and over again, the students and their chaperones, our town, people and way of life, and all appreciated the warm greetings they received from the townspeople. Special thanks to Terry Campbell and the Moloket Mixers for their dance and instruction skills; everyone enjoyed our last evening together and we all thank you for your contribution. To the Rotary Club: Thank you for believing in the program and for your sponsorship with all of the work and planning that job entails; without you, there would be no program. Thanks also extended to the Bethel Inn & Country Club for the luncheon and use of the beach on Songo Pond, to the people of Sunday River for the ride up the mountain, to Telstar and SAD #4 for the use of a bus and driver every day, to Gould Academy for allowing us to have lunch with you and for the use of your canoes, to the Boy Scouts for the great campout and hike up Mt. Abram, to the Powell family for the welcoming picnic, to Charlie's Place and Prim's for the sandwiches and drink and to all of the other businesses in town who opened your doors to us and to those who donated the gifts for our guests. Last, but definitely not least, a round of applause to our host families, who have opened hearts and homes to provide an American family for each of these special people from abroad. We'll never forget all the fun we've had and the new experiences we've shared.

Again, thank you, Bethel; we couldn't have done it without you.

To the Editor:

Your July 19 edition of the Citizen arrived in the morning mail today. I was dismayed when the first thing to catch my eye was your headline, "Citizen sold to owner of Sun." I immediately rechecked the date to be sure it was not April 1.

I was relieved to learn, after reading almost half the article, that you were to remain as editor and publisher. Hopefully you will continue to speak out on issues as you have in the past. You have great insight not only on local matters, but on problems confronting our nation and the world. It is my hope that you will continue to share your thoughts and knowledge with your readers.

Now don't get me wrong. I do not always agree with you 100 percent. I don't even agree with my wife all of the time. But, I do look forward to your "opinions" and appreciate your comments whether in agreement or not.

It was good to meet you last month. Keep up the good work.

Jim Ray

To the Editor:

In January you promised that a complete list of Bethel tax payers would be printed in the Citizen.

Isn't it time that list was printed? Even though the paper has been sold I think it is up to you to see this list is printed.

When I asked you about it a few weeks ago you said you were buying it. It seems to me that the ones you were buying it from would be anxious to get it to you. In fact you said you had forgotten it. Well, there are some of us who haven't. Now how about getting on the ball and getting that list in the Citizen.

I believe you owe it to the subscribers to keep your promise and get it and print it and in the very near future.

CORRECTION

Last week's Citizen incorrectly reported that Herbert Dunham had been appointed to a one-year term as Greenwood assessor. Mr. Dunham's appointment is for three years.

FROM THE Bethel Town Office

Despite the warm weather we have experienced, and the office work load, I felt I should set some time aside in which to write the Town Office newspaper column as a number of things that the Town has been working on have started to come together. These include the hiring of a new police chief, getting the sewer plant upgrade work out to construction bid and setting the date for the appraisal work at the airport to begin.

Brian Stowell, a Bethel native, has been hired as Bethel's new Police Chief. His law enforcement background includes six and a half years as a patrolman with the Rumford Police Department and one and a half years as a full-time Oxford County deputy. He is a graduate of the Maine Criminal Justice Academy. Brian has taken a number of training courses including drug enforcement and investigation. He currently resides in Bryant Pond with his wife Linda and his two children.

His first tasks as chief will be to participate in the hiring of a third full-time police officer, developing and implementing a new patrol schedule which will increase the amount of police coverage for the town and preparing a department policy and procedures manual. We have received 15 applications for the vacant patrolman's position. For the future, the chief intends to get the police more involved in drug education.

Both the selectmen and myself would like to personally welcome Brian aboard and to extend to him our support and encouragement as he begins to build an expanded police department which will better serve the needs of a growing community.

Since last May officer Dale Bellman has been the town's sole police officer. As our only full-time officer, Dale put in many long hours and gave the town the best possible police protection. In doing so he performed in a highly professional manner. Like most he is also an Academy trained police officer. On behalf of the citizens of Bethel, the selectmen and myself, I would like to extend our appreciation and thank you to Dale for a job well done and a rest that he well deserved.

The construction work for the sewer plant improvements has gone out to bid. The bids will be opened on Aug. 23, 1989 with construction to start in the middle of September. Before the DEP will completely lift the sewer connection moratorium, the upgrade work must be completed. To have progressed as far as the bid stage has involved a lot of hard work on the part of a number of people including the selectmen, our sewer consultants, John Fancie and Dubois and King, Inc., and plant operator Robert Gundersen.

In my last column, I mentioned that the town had hired Norman Gosline of Gardner to undertake the appraisal of several parcels of land in the vicinity of the airport which we need to acquire either in fee or acquire an easement in. The appraisal work will start Aug. 15, 1989 and take about six weeks to complete, after which a second review appraisal will be performed. The appraisals will then be submitted to the town and the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) for their review and approval. Once these approvals have been obtained, monetary offers will be made to the affected property owners. Ninety percent of the purchase funds will be provided by the FAA and the state will contribute another five percent. The town's contribution will be a five percent in-kind contribution based upon the value of previously donated land at the airport.

John Head, Jim Hudson and myself will be working with the landowners on the property and easement acquisitions. The purpose of performing the appraisals and having local people involved in the acquisition process is to make the process and negotiations as fair and as cooperative and helpful as possible as we are very sensitive to the fact that no one likes to give up their land or their rights. Hopefully we can all work together to make the final outcome as pleasant and as accommodating as possible.

Recently, the town received donations for which the selectmen and myself wish to thank the donors. The Town of Newry has donated $100 to the Bethel Recreation Committee for the support of the Little League. Dr. Stanley Howe has donated a copy of the Bethel Historical Society's most recent publication entitled "Bethel, Maine Cemeteries." This publication is an extensive and extremely well researched inventory of Bethel's numerous cemeteries.

Again our thanks to Newry and to Stanley for their much appreciated gifts.

In closing, I would like to take this opportunity to wish Don and Edie Eddy the best of enjoyment and happiness in their new home in Pennsylvania. During their 17 years in Bethel Don and Edie contributed much to the betterment of the community. Don served on the Town Planning Board for a number of years and while on the board his opinions were sought and his advice was listened to. Again, best wishes!

DEP offers technical assistance for towns trying to protect lakes

The DEP's Division of Environmental Evaluation and Lake Studies (DEELS) has recently formed a Technical Assistance Unit to help towns and lake associations protect water quality. One focus of the new unit is to provide information on how to control phosphorus laden runoff in lake watersheds.

Phosphorus is a nutrient which has the potential to cause blue-green algae blooms that produce an offensive odor, create lake scum, and may deplete the oxygen supply in the bottom layer of water. These factors make the lake unsuitable for salmon and brook trout as well as lowering the recreational value of the lake.

Many people believe that lakes become saturated with phosphorus due to shoreline development, while this is a significant factor, many people do not realize that human activity anywhere within the lake's watershed has the potential of affecting the phosphorus level and therefore the water quality of the lake.

A lake's watershed is defined as the area within which a drop of water can find its way into the lake. Stormwater runoff contains phosphorus and picks up additional nutrients from eroded and exposed soils. Any runoff that becomes channelized and empties into drain ditches, or streams carries untreated phosphorus into the lake. The key to controlling phosphorus is to find a balance between impervious surfaces such as driveways/roads, and surfaces like the forest floor that allow infiltration. This forest floor that allows infiltration. The forest floor that allows infiltration.

The technical assistance unit is in the process of compiling watershed information packets for towns within lake watersheds. Each of the towns will receive watershed maps and water quality information on how sensitive their particular lake is to phosphorus; this information may be used to help keep lake water quality from being degraded.

The herbicides are used along 3,800 miles of Maine's highways from Kittery to Fort Kent to control brush that otherwise could cause unsafe driving conditions. Handcutting the brush is impractical, although MDOT crews do handcut brush that is too large for spraying to handle or that is in buffer zones around environmentally sensitive areas.

Persons who do not want MDOT to spray along their property can enter into a "No-Spray" agreement with MDOT, but must agree to post "No-Spray" signs and to cut brush to their property line each year. MDOT reserves the right to cancel the agreement if work is not done to MDOT standards.

"No-Spray" agreements also may be initiated by municipalities, but they must develop plans for financing and implementing their own brush control programs as an alternative.

"No-Spray" forms and information may be obtained from the MDOT Maintenance Division Office, P.O. Box X, Dixfield, Maine 04224, telephone 562-4229.

Update on roadside herbicide spraying

The Maine Department of Transportation will add a solution made from orange peelings to its herbicide water mixes to help the herbicide penetrate the protective layer that leaves develop this time of year.

Clyde Walton, MDOT's Landscape Architect, said that adding the orange peel solution helps herbicides get past the protective layer plants develop during seasonal drought conditions, cause the leaves to shed and develop a thick protective layer. That layer makes it more difficult for dilute herbicide mixtures to penetrate and do their job.

Senator Cohen supports 'habilitation' services bill

Senator Bill Cohen, R-Maine, announced today that he has introduced legislation to restore federal funding for Maine's support services for the developmentally disabled and to guard against future funding cutbacks.

So-called "habilitation" services, funded in Maine and many states by the federal Medicaid program, teach daily living skills to mentally retarded and other developmentally disabled individuals living with their parents or in boarding homes. But a recent decision by the Health Care Financing Administration (HCFA) ended Medicaid support for "habilitation" services, forcing federal funding in 18 other states in jeopardy.

"Habilitation services offer opportunity and hope for the developmentally disabled," Cohen said. "They allow these people to lead dignified, independent lives outside the confines of an institution. This legislation would protect them from being denied vital services that help them to live as self-sufficiently as possible."

Cohen's legislation would prevent the type of abrupt funding cutoff that happened in Maine late last year, when HCFA terminated federal support for the day habilitation program after promising to fund it. The state began the program only after HCFA promised to help pay for it, but when the federal funds were stopped the state found itself in a financial bind because it had to pick up the slack.

Cohen and other members of the Maine Congressional Delegation convinced HCFA to renew the funding through June 30, which includes Maine's, would have their funding restored. The bill would then bar HCFA from cutting off funding unless the agency published regulations explaining which "habilitation" services are covered under Medicaid. While the measure does not prevent the cutoff of funds indefinitely, HCFA would first have to go through the lengthy federal rule-making procedure, which requires input from all interested parties.

In the event the funding were cut off again, the legislation also includes a provision that would make it easier for states to qualify for special Medicaid funding that is now available for mentally retarded persons who would be otherwise institutionalized.

"It is important that the mentally retarded and their families not be forced to bear the pain of an arbitrary decision by a federal agency," he said. "I feel strongly that HCFA should justify why the federal government cannot pay for these services before it makes an abrupt announcement that it is eliminating federal funding."

He noted that learning skills such as how to dress, bathe, cook and maintain a checking account enables the developmentally disabled to manage their lives without the constant aid of family and professionals. Their independence takes pressure off crowded institutions as well as their families, allowing parents and siblings to take jobs outside of the home.

estimates: new initiatives to control point and non-point sources of coastal pollution; prevention of toxic contamination of marine sediments; reauthorization of the Coastal Zone Management Act; and expansion of authority for oil spill prevention and response.

As part of that effort, I have introduced legislation known as the Marine Protection Act of 1989 to expand and improve programs for the protection of marine and coastal waters. The bill would require the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) to prepare a comprehensive list of coastal waters experiencing a general degradation of environmental conditions and would require the EPA to work with the states to develop response plans to address these water quality problems.

The legislation would provide new authority to provide greater protection for such designated waters, including more stringent requirements for discharge permits, wetlands assessments, stormwater discharge and non-point pollution control.

For these designated waters with serious water quality problems, we should make every effort to hold the life on pollution. To accomplish this, the bill provides for a new "coastal discharge standard," which would apply to point source discharges to designated waters. The standard would require dischargers to specifically show the need to discharge and would allow no net increase in the amount of pollution in the designated areas.

The bill I have introduced would also give priority to study of Casco Bay under the National Estuary Program provided for in the Clean Water Act. In addition, this legislation is designed to complement the Marine Research Act, which I introduced with Representative Joseph Brennan in March of this year. The Marine Research Act would expand research and monitoring in the major coastal regions of the country, including the Gulf of Maine.

Some of these include: expansion of marine research and monitoring; special efforts to protect coastal bays and the Gulf of Maine.

Sen. Mitchell says...

Summer has begun and Maine families and many visitors are turning to our beaches and coastal areas for enjoyment and recreation. In Maine, like many states, we depend on the quality of the marine environment for our commercial fisheries industry and to attract tourism. Unfortunately, the nation's coastal and ocean waters are facing a large range of environmental threats and the health of these waters is in decline.

Last summer, the joys of a trip to the beach were denied to millions of Americans because beaches were closed by pollution on the mid-Atlantic coast. Some lobstermen took off the mid-Atlantic coast have large "burn holes" as a result of pollution. Shellfish in the Chesapeake Bay and coastal North Carolina have been decimated by pollution and disease. On the west coast, toxic chemicals, including PCBs, mercury and other heavy metals are in the sediments of Puget Sound, San Francisco Bay and Santa Monica Bay.

The growing evidence of serious marine pollution problems in every coastal region of the country, the extensive beach closings last summer, and the recent oil spill disaster in Alaska have continued to convince many in Congress that it is time to more effectively protect our coastal waters.

During the last Congress, as chairman of the Senate Subcommittee on Environmental Protection, I chaired a series of five hearings on coastal protection. I held the first of these hearings in Maine to learn about the environmental conditions in the Gulf of Maine. The general conclusion of the hearing was that the Gulf of Maine is still very clean and does not now face the serious pollution problems present in other parts of the country. There was also agreement, however, that prevention of problems will require building a first-rate marine research and protection program.

Recently, I joined with several members of both the Senate and the House of Representatives to identify 10 key areas where we see a need for action. Some of these include: expansion of marine research and monitoring; special efforts to protect coastal bays and never served in the armed forces of the United States. Most of these were related by blood or marriage to veterans but many were not. Others were members of the armed forces of countries who fought with us against our enemies.

The Center has compiled a book describing the latest rules on available benefits and how to qualify for those benefits. The 192 page "Complete Guide to Federal and State Benefits for Veterans, Their Families, and Survivors" with a foreword by Sen. Robert Dole and a separate book containing information and forms to obtain marriage, death, divorce and other vital documents needed to substantiate claims is now available. This set of two books is $7 (plus $2 postage and handling) from CECV-Vets, 350 Scotland Rd., Orange, N.J. 07050 or by calling 1-800-872-0121 with credit card.

Mr. Robert L. Berko, executive director of the consumer group, says that many survivors of veterans are unaware that they might be eligible to receive money, medical care, educational assistance, help in buying a home or other benefits. In fact, eligibility and benefits change constantly and some people ineligible in previous years are now able to start receiving money.

The study found that many people are unaware that they are considered dependents or survivors of veterans. These include those involved in illegal marriages, those who remarried after the death or disability of a veteran, children born out of wedlock to a veteran, parents of a veteran and even dependent grandchildren. Any of these may be eligible for benefits.

Mr. Berko says that the study questioned veterans about benefits and found that the majority were unfamiliar with most of the benefits now being granted under federal and state laws. Even veterans now collecting were unaware of other benefits for which they were eligible and could be collecting.

For instance, disabled veterans can receive apparel allowances if they use wheelchairs, artificial limbs or any prosthetic devices that can wear or damage clothing and if they have a spouse in need of care, they can receive an allowance to pay someone to provide that care.

Few knew that (unemployed veterans) 55 or older are considered, permanently and totally disabled and those with limited income and savings, can collect as much as $11,000 per year.

Other benefits the consumer found that were little known are:

- A veteran (or dependent) can receive up to $337 (40 percent in advance) if he or she will assist the VA in a work study program while in an educational program.
- Federal agencies are required to establish affirmative action plans to facilitate employment and advancement of veterans with any degree of disability. In fact some job classifications must be filled by eligible vets.
- Families of veterans buried or mentioned or commemorated on Tablets of the Missing overseas are eligible for free passports to visit these sites.
- In addition the book includes a complete list of VA facilities and help to secure the information needed with VA applications.
- "Even though the Congress and the various state legislatures have provided for money and services to be given to veterans and their dependents," Mr. Berko states, "unless the people know they are eligible and apply they will not collect anything."

As Sen. Bob Dole, a decorated veteran and one familiar with the bureaucracy, says in his foreword, "Mr. Berko's book goes a long way in helping America's veterans cut through the red tape so they Whom to Ask About Childcare." While overall survey "comment" response confirmed the need for childcare (in outlying towns, especially) of SAD #44, Bethel itself seems—at least for the moment—to be holding its own.

Paula Cordwell, Shirlene Bodwell, Mary Jo Kelly and Martha Brown each have at least one full-time opening, and the West Bethel Children's Center, licensed for 30 but staffed for only 26 in summer, has five openings this summer.

Some licensed homes and centers say they may have openings as late as September, while others expect full enrollment by the end of August, when the school year begins and the children of SAD #44 employees will again require childcare.

Another important issue from the survey is the cost of childcare. Local childcare providers, aware of this problem, struggle to keep their cost as low as possible and still remain in business. Local employers are aware of the problem, and some have told Task Force members they'd like to help alleviate it. One way discussed is by providing childcare benefits packages to their employees. But employers must find their way through governmental regulations that with one hand encourage such employer participation, yet with the other hand point to laws that do not allow benefits to be provided to some employees and not to others.

That employer dilemma was addressed at an Augusta workshop by an attorney knowledgeable in childcare. Two local childcare Task Force committee members attended that workshop, and the Task Force convenor is presently seeking permission from the attorney to make his program handout available to local accountants, lawyers, and the Chamber of Commerce office, in the hope that a written summation of the laws might help employers formulate childcare benefit plans.

In addition, committee member Crockett's employer, Finders Seekers (an arm of Community Concepts in South Paris), can provide comprehensive information on all aspects of childcare to their clients. Any parent needing childcare can call Finders Seekers to see what is available.

Future meetings of the Childcare Task Force Convenor will, as always, be open to the public, and interested volunteers are more than welcome to attend.

Survey shows Mainers support energy standards

The Maine Office of Energy Resources (OER) announced today the results of a statewide survey of the opinions of Maine residents concerning mandatory minimum energy efficiency standards for residential construction.

The survey, conducted in late May and early June on behalf of the OER by Northeast Research of Orono, has an error rate of less than plus or minus three percent.

Survey respondents were asked:

- If they favored having mandatory energy efficiency standards for residential construction.
- If they felt that people who build or contract for the building of their own homes should be exempt from energy standards.

Whether or not the State of Maine had a residential energy efficiency building standard law.

Survey results show that nine out of ten, or 90 percent, of Maine residents support mandatory minimum energy efficiency standards; that 64 percent oppose them, and that 4 percent are indifferent.

As to whether or not owner built or owner contracted houses should be exempted from the energy standards; 80 percent opposed such an exemption, 12 percent supported it and 8 percent were indifferent.

Asked if Maine has energy standards for residential buildings; 14 percent thought that such a law existed, 18 percent thought it did not and 70 percent simply did not know.

Since Jan. 1 of this year, Maine has had minimum mandatory energy efficiency standards for new residential construction. Those standards, however, exempt owner built and owner contracted homes.

In announcing the results of the survey, Harvey DeVane, Director of the State Energy Office, said "This survey verifies what we have long believed—that the public overwhelmingly supports mandatory energy standards for residential buildings and does not approve of exempting owner built and owner contracted houses from those standards."

According to DeVane, "That is precisely why the State Energy Office, in cooperation with the Maine Association of Broadcasters, developed a campaign of public service messages now being broadcast statewide on radio and television and why, for the next several weeks, the campaign will focus on Maine's be able to book more five-to-seven-day vacation packages.

Such packages are a key target market for the ski area, and they have the advantage of putting more skiers on the mountain without significantly increasing the strain on weekends—when lodgings, both on and off the mountain, are likely to be already booked.

The new service is similar in many respects to the reservation service already offered by the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce, but Robin Zinchuk, BACC executive director, said the two services should complement one another. "Anything that makes it easier for customers to reach us should benefit everyone," she said.

Bill Jensen, director of marketing for Sunday River, said: "We hope response to the program is positive. We feel it is essential for Sunday River and the community to work together to promote the entire Bethel area."

The ski area currently has approximately 3500 beds on the mountain. Officials hope the new program eventually will add 300 more to those the resort can book.

Mr. Jensen said the ski area's marketing goal for the coming season is to break the 400,000 mark in skier days, which would be an increase of 18 percent over last season—and a ten-fold increase over the number of skier days in 1980.

Still very hot and humid as I sit down to type this morning. Got the fans going already and they will go all day I expect. It should be hot enough to suit the most particular. I pray for rain to help the gardens until a thunderstorm brought us some relief Thursday evening.

Phil Gline's sister Veronica and Bud Nielson, of Racine, Wis., were visiting Phil and Rolie Glines for two weeks and left July 28 from Portland Jetport. The Glines' daughter Heidi, from Connecticut, has been spending time from her teaching position. Bud happened to be sitting alone by the pool when a spotted fawn came out of the woods stood by the pool looking into the water and jumped in. Bud's cries brought the others outside and they got the fawn by the ladder which he nimbly climbed and went back into the woods. The weather has been so hot that the small streams had dried and the poor fawn must have thought the pool was very inviting. They said that the fawn was very apt at swimming.

Thursday afternoon a fire was started on Thimbledown Hill, on the Gilead side of North Road. I was told a trucker going on Route 2 through Gilead saw the smoke. He stopped at their local diner who in turn had someone call in. They called in State Forestry Service as well as Bethel, Gilead and Newry units. The fire was started by lightning and if we hadn't gotten some much needed rain we would have had even more than the three or four acres the fire burned over. The Forestry Service had a helicopter dump water (I believe over 10,000 gallons.) The Service also had a tank truck and two other pumping units. The Bethel and Gilead units stayed all Thursday night and most of Friday. This will have to be kept an eye on as with everything so dry it can burn underground and then erupt.

July 23 Frank and I drove to Sodom Road in Norway to my sister Iva and Don Holden's camp. We were joined by sister Marion and Ben Tucker, Readfield, brother Dan, Shirli, Jacob and Nate Allen, Oxford, and brother John Allen, Norway, and friend Beth, of Oxford. The Holden's daughter Pearl and Steve Ivy. Each family brought a dish and the breeze blew onto the porch keeping us all comfortable. The five of us want to be able to get together every once in a while.

Becky Shaw, John Landay, Jon and Jen Shaw went July 24 to Aquaboggin playground in Saco in observance of the twins 8th birthday July 25. July 25 they went to Songo for cake and ice cream with family members.

Recent visitors of Bob and Linda Howe have been Rex, Sheila Cummings and family, Stratham, N.H.; Kevin, Cindy Thurward and family, Gray; Donna Douglass, Pownall; Pam McKinley, of Kodiak, Alaska; and Sandy and Barbara McGregor, Rumford.

Evelyn Hilborn's brother, Norman Davis, wife Brenda and nephew Craig, from Hamilton, Ontario, visited for five days enjoying a trip to North Conway and lunch at Eastern Slopes, a lobster feed and various barbecues. They enjoyed the beautiful countryside around Bethel.

Friday, July 21, Alberta Angevine went to Norway to pick up dog, Tobey, and later I went with them to Ladies' Circle lunch and sale at Locke Mills Church.

Evelyn has a nest of baby swallows on her veranda eaves.

Evelyn Hilborn has gone shopping in Gorham, N.H., Norway and Rumford lately.

July 15, Joe Shimamura went to Boston to meet his sisters Toyoko Sugiyama, Setsuko Masuda and brother-in-law Tomiaki Masuda from Japan. This was Joe's sisters' first visit to the U.S.A. Mr. Masuda visited 25 years ago.

The family enjoyed Maine very much and visited the area with family as much as time allowed. They were able to meet and enjoy all the Shimamura families.

The ladies had a great time shopping for their grandchildren as baby clothes are much more expensive in Japan.

Among their travels was a trip to the mountains, to the coast, shopping at the Lewiston malls, Sunday River Skiway, local scenic spots, worship service at the Nazarene Church, breakfast at Gould Academy and a tour of Gould, a tour of Woodstock School. They experienced Maine lobster, which they found to be delightful.

The family visited Gerry's mom at Ledgewick Nursing Home and marvelled at the care and concern of the staff at Ledgewick. "There is nothing like this in Japan," Mr. Masuda exclaimed.

Christy had some to sell as well as Peggy and Russell and I had a table or two also. It was a hot sunny day but had lots of callers at the sale and got rid of what we could. It was just about noon and I did until just about noon and then we decided we had had enough of the sun and called it quits. It was just too hot to stay out any longer. I had gotten sunburned on Saturday and looked like a lobster I was so red. We didn't get rich by any means but did sell some things.

Peggy and Russell went to the dance Saturday night after being out for the yard sale. Wynona and friends, Don, Alward and Florence called in a few minutes on their way to the dance at Locke Mills also. It was nice to see them all.

Sunday was another scorcher and we didn't stay out during the afternoon. I had come down to the phone rang and when I answered it was Howard Smith, from Pittsburgh, Pa., calling. He was in town so called me and we had a nice chat. Had hoped he might get a chance to stop in but as he goes back today I don't expect he will get in to chat. I am always glad to hear from a reader of my column and to meet them. It makes life interesting to do just that. I'm not much to look at but do enjoy meeting folks.

Courtney had gone home on Friday and was happy to do so. She doesn't know what to do with herself when she is up here with no one else to play with. We played many games and I hope she had a good time. I enjoy having the girls but they do make me tired now where they didn't use to. A sign I am getting old I guess.

Can't run with them as I once could. I expect to have them both for a couple of days next weekend while Nonie and Mike go to the reunion at Machias where they went to college. Can't blame them for wanting to go and glad to help out when I can. Hope it won't be as hot as it is now.

Yesterday was Peggy's day for going to set up cards at the stores and I bet she enjoyed the air conditioning in the stores. Made it cooler for her during the hot day.

The Lovejoys enjoyed a day at Sebago State Park on Saturday for the Chapman field day. Mary has been busy helping get the children to swim lessons and as there were many children and not many parents who volunteered to help, she has been busy. Softball and baseball have taken some of her time and she keeps busy with all the Grange affairs.

Speaking of Grange, there will be a five point meeting on Thursday, Aug. 3, at West Paris. Of course there is Pomona meeting on Tuesday at West Paris I think. Saturday, Aug. 5 is the dance at West Paris so something more to keep Mary busy. Hope lots of you will come to have a good time at the dance and that there will be good attendance at the Grange meetings.

Take care one and all and stay as cool as you can. Pray for rain for the gardens and the wells. We don't like either to be too dry.

GENEROUS DONATION—Jeremiah Mills proudly presents Paula Wheeler, executive director of Maine Handicapped Skiing, with a check for $390. The donation, one of Bethel's most generous, will be used to purchase adaptive equipment for the physically challenged individuals in the alpine ski program at Sunday River Ski Resort. Jeremiah, a student at Telstar High School, volunteered in the program during the past ski season, and sponsored Meredith Elcome, R.P.T., Maine Handicapped Skiing's student coordinator in the program's Ski-A-Thon fundraiser, which is held annually at the ski resort.

Catherine McGuire was the only bus rider from the Manor to Rumford on Wednesday.

Dorothy Elliott returned home from the Rumford Hospital on Tuesday. Her cousin Phyllis Chandler, Lovell, will be with her for a few days.

Anne Fox attended a meeting of the Andover Historical Society, at Betsy Fisher's Wednesday afternoon.

Catherine McGuire's sister, Laura Staples, Portland, is visiting her for a few days.

Louis Hall called on aunt Florence Hall Tuesday night.

Thought for the day: A friend is one who though he sees through you, will see you through.

Calvary Congregational Church Worship with us on Sunday 9:30-10:30 a.m. followed by light refreshments and fellowship.

Meditation: Psalm 118:6 "I was brought low, and he helped me." Morning hymn of praise: "Calvary covers it all." Pastor Grover's message "Glad Tidings" Psalm 89:15,16. Why the Gospel is a joyful sound? It proclaims pardon for the guilty, freedom for the captured, we know the joyful sound, through the word of God, blessings are received through knowledge of knowing it.

Northwest Bethel

By CLARICE GIBSON

We're having a heat wave—a tropical heat wave. The weather people said that a heat wave is when three days in a row reach 90 degrees or over so beginning Monday until a thunderstorm brought us some relief Thursday evening.

Phil Gline's sister Veronica and Bud Nielson, of Racine, Wis., were visiting Phil and Rolie Glines for two weeks and left July 28 from Portland Jetport. The Glines' daughter Heidi, from Connecticut, has been spending time from her teaching position. Bud happened to be sitting alone by the pool when a spotted fawn came out of the woods stood by the pool looking into the water and jumped in. Bud's cries brought the others outside and they got the fawn by the ladder which he nimbly climbed and went back into the woods. The weather has been so hot that the small streams had dried and the poor fawn must have thought the pool was very inviting. They said that the fawn was very apt at swimming.

Thursday afternoon a fire was started on Thimbledown Hill, on the Gilead side of North Road. I was told a trucker going on Route 2 through Gilead saw the smoke. He stopped at their local diner who in turn had someone call in. They called in State Forestry Service as well as Bethel, Gilead and Newry units. The fire was started by lightning and if we hadn't gotten some much needed rain we would have had even more than the three or four acres the fire burned over. The Forestry Service had a helicopter dump water (I believe over 10,000 gallons.) The Service also had a tank truck and two other pumping units. The Bethel and Gilead units stayed all Thursday night and most of Friday. This will have to be kept an eye on as with everything so dry it can burn underground and then erupt.

July 23 Frank and I drove to Sodom Road in Norway to my sister Iva and Don Holden's camp. We were joined by sister Marion and Ben Tucker, Readfield, brother Dan, Shirli, Jacob and Nate Allen, Oxford, and brother John Allen, Norway, and friend Beth, of Oxford. The Holden's daughter Pearl and Steve Ivy. Each family brought a dish and the breeze blew onto the porch keeping us all comfortable. The five of us want to be able to get together every once in a while.

Becky Shaw, John Landay, Jon and Jen Shaw went July 24 to Aquaboggin playground in Saco in observance of the twins 8th birthday July 25. July 25 they went to Songo for cake and ice cream with family members.

Recent visitors of Bob and Linda Howe have been Rex, Sheila Cummings and family, Stratham, N.H.; Kevin, Cindy Thurward and family, Gray; Donna Douglass, Pownall; Pam McKinley, of Kodiak, Alaska; and Sandy and Barbara McGregor, Rumford.

Evelyn Hilborn's brother, Norman Davis, wife Brenda and nephew Craig, from Hamilton, Ontario, visited for five days enjoying a trip to North Conway and lunch at Eastern Slopes, a lobster feed and various barbecues. They enjoyed the beautiful countryside around Bethel.

Friday, July 21, Alberta Angevine went to Norway to pick up dog, Tobey, and later I went with them to Ladies' Circle lunch and sale at Locke Mills Church.

Evelyn has a nest of baby swallows on her veranda eaves.

Evelyn Hilborn has gone shopping in Gorham, N.H., Norway and Rumford lately.

July 15, Joe Shimamura went to Boston to meet his sisters Toyoko Sugiyama, Setsuko Masuda and brother-in-law Tomiaki Masuda from Japan. This was Joe's sisters' first visit to the U.S.A. Mr. Masuda visited 25 years ago.

The family enjoyed Maine very much and visited the area with family as much as time allowed. They were able to meet and enjoy all the Shimamura families.

The ladies had a great time shopping for their grandchildren as baby clothes are much more expensive in Japan.

Among their travels was a trip to the mountains, to the coast, shopping at the Lewiston malls, Sunday River Skiway, local scenic spots, worship service at the Nazarene Church, breakfast at Gould Academy and a tour of Gould, a tour of Woodstock School. They experienced Maine lobster, which they found to be delightful.

The family visited Gerry's mom at Ledgewick Nursing Home and marvelled at the care and concern of the staff at Ledgewick. "There is nothing like this in Japan," Mr. Masuda exclaimed.

Christy had some to sell as well as Peggy and Russell and I had a table or two also. It was a hot sunny day but had lots of callers at the sale and got rid of what we could. It was just about noon and I did until just about noon and then we decided we had had enough of the sun and called it quits. It was just too hot to stay out any longer. I had gotten sunburned on Saturday and looked like a lobster I was so red. We didn't get rich by any means but did sell some things.

Peggy and Russell went to the dance Saturday night after being out for the yard sale. Wynona and friends, Don, Alward and Florence called in a few minutes on their way to the dance at Locke Mills also. It was nice to see them all.

Sunday was another scorcher and we didn't stay out during the afternoon. I had come down to the phone rang and when I answered it was Howard Smith, from Pittsburgh, Pa., calling. Greenwood City

By COLISTA MORGAN

As I went by the shed early this morning, a bird came down the walk, a startled bird from the wayside grass. I paused to look and a scattering tail of flame glided through the roses. The stems parted to let it through. I'm left remembering, my mind spangled with its beauty, an unforgettable thing.

So many times and things are unforgettable. I sometimes think oh, to be young again, full of wonder at the world, of distant horizons, towering hillsides and how they seemed so near at hand. Now they are no more than gentle slopes that have been scaled and studied.

But today my thoughts find delight in simpler things that help me simplify my life. My eighty-first birthday is looking me squarely in the face. It dawns upon me that these years can be the most unexpected of all things that can happen to anyone. Being older brings its disadvantages, but I have balanced my years and have found some genuine compensations which old age brings. I intend to fully enjoy and make the most of these days. Wasn't it the Psalmist who declared, "My times are in thy hands?"

These years have great blessings for I have time to enjoy some of life's blessings for which there was insufficient time in my younger years. These golden years are bringing leisure time for all the activities which were crowded out by pressure, responsibility and work. I think often about the meaning and wonder of life as I walk. There is a significance in all things if we look for it.

I was asked recently if I told my age. Yes, I do and I don't mind telling it but I do mind, being it; although the years have been kind in most ways.

Then again I remember several years when I walked in the "valley of the shadow." Flung around was a halo of light and beyond that a rainbow. At that very moment I saw the perfection of the world. Moments like these; I discover more of them, as I grow older. I sense the magnificence of our world and the Power behind it. So I have come to see that I can be a rich and full life.

On Sunday, I was at the farm where I enjoyed the wonderful home cooked meal with the family. Robert and his family came from Windsor. He and other men helped with the haying. There were many other visitors and a busy day as usual.

At this time Katie Tamminen is still at Stephens Memorial Hospital, but is expected to be home soon.

Mr. and Mrs. John Betts were guests of friends at Merry Meeting Lake recently.

Dorothy Curtis had several callers this last week: Stephen Cogswell, Freeport; Mr. and Mrs. Edwin French from Oregon who are here visiting many relatives for several weeks; Mildred Bowman, Hebron; Alton Kimball, West Paris; Evelyn Heikkinen, Rena Curtis, Eva Felton, Kathy Curtis, Helen Chojacki, Irene Stevens, local; Lucy Bragg, West Sumner.

Fay, Sally and Mary Holt spent Tuesday at a beach in the Portland area. They enjoyed a nice day.

I haven't done much these real hot days. Has anyone except the farmers? I did walk in the early morning when it was cooler.

My callers were three nieces, Lucy Bragg, Ann Holt, Laureen French and her husband, Edwin.

There was a busy week at Rena Curtis'. She and her daughter, Evelyn, went to Lewiston. On Tuesday they drove to Dover-Foxcroft to visit relatives and to the cemetery to the family lot. They called

A DAY AT THE TOWN BEACH—More and more people are using Greenwood's new town beach, but on most days there's still plenty of blanket room. Town officials plan to put a sign on the road along the beach, and they are exploring the possibility of filling and smoothing the surface of the 1/2-acre surface (pending approval from the state Department of Environmental Protection). First Selectwoman Marie Bartlett said that, so far at least, bathers using the beach have been very good about not leaving trash behind.

ed on Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Galagher in Garland and Mr. and Mrs. Ken Bean at Cortina. Mrs. Bean is Rena's niece.

Louis Cogswell visited his great aunt Rena one evening.

Rena and Evelyn had a cookout and the following attended: Lillian and Nick Strait, Fownal; Colista, Stephen and Troy Cogswell, Freeport; Stephen and Kim Cogswell and children, Bowdoin; Cindy and Jennifer Gower, Freeport; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Curtis and son, Fred, Buckfield; Bonnie and son, Spencer, South Paris; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Curtis, Norway.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin French were callers.

Much sympathy is extended to the family of Don Brown who passed away Friday.

Mrs. Helen Grover was a visitor at the home of Mrs. Miriam Higgins on Papoose Pond July 14, as it was her birthday.

Mrs. Grace Nelson is ill with pneumonia and was taken to the hospital at Bridgton.

The Rev. Janice Wilcox was a caller in town one afternoon.

N.H., and son David, of Portland, visited me for a few days. Mrs. Chester Millett also visited me one day.

Mrs. "Snip" Doughty and husband, also her niece Lois Neimi spent Sunday at their camp on Lake Keewauwin.

Mrs. Donald Plummer and two children have gone to Thailand to visit her parents until September.

CARD OF THANKS

Sincere thanks to my family, relatives and many friends for remembering me in anyway while I was at Maine Med and since returning home. God bless.

Barbara Hathaway

CONWAY SCENIC RAILROAD

On Friday, Aug. 4, Conway Scenic Railroad will roll back its fares to those charged on its first day of operation 15 years ago.

One-time only special events are also planned. An extra run will be added to the normal Friday schedule: a 9:30 a.m. early bird run.

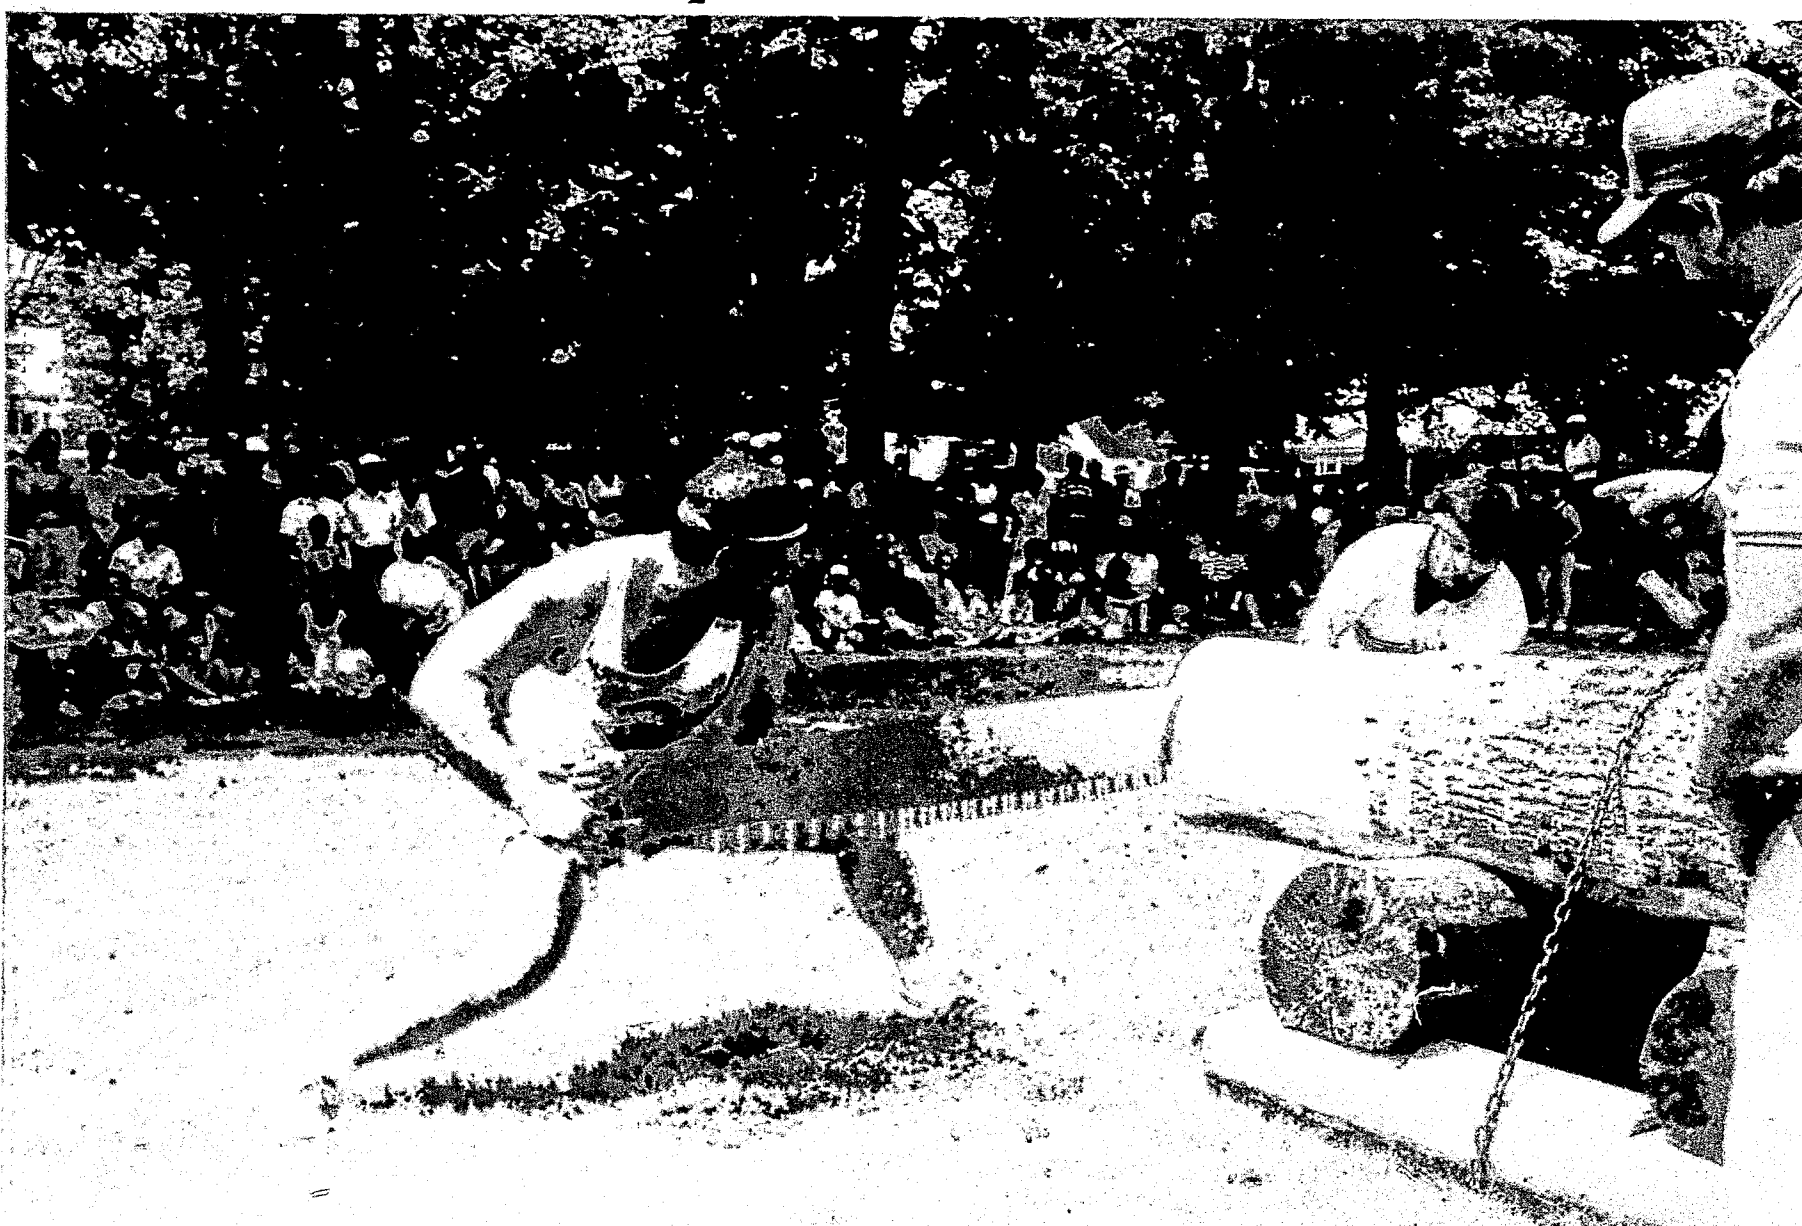

Dwight Smith, co-founder and president will conduct two scheduled half-hour tours of the equipment on display and of the historic buildings, giving in-depth background details on every piece of railroading memorabilia.

Conway Scenic Railroad began operations on Aug. 4, 1974 with a single run from the Depot at North Conway to Conway and back at a fare of $2.50 roundtrip. That day marked the end of the founding group's six-year struggle to purchase right of way, acquire rolling stock, and set-up operations. In the 15 years since that day in 1974, the seasonal railroad has prospered to become a familiar sight and sound in the Mt. Washington Valley and one of the most successful tourist railroads in the United States.

The 15th Anniversary Day festivities will also include a special train run in the early morning, and personally guided informational tours of the grounds, buildings, and equipment by Mr. Smith. All runs last 55 minutes, and will depart (and return to) North Conway Depot at Norcross Circle in the village of North Conway five times on Friday, Aug. 4; the anniversary-only 9:30 a.m. "Early Bird Special," and the regular Friday schedule of 11 a.m., 1:23 and 4 p.m.

For further details on the 15th Anniversary Celebration Friday, Aug. 4, call 800-256-5251. Ample parking is available at Norcross Circle and on Conway Scenic Railroad grounds.

From the Bethel Area

Chamber of Commerce

The Board of Directors of the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce met on Thursday, July 13. The following business was conducted.

A budget was discussed and passed to operate the Bethel area reservation service, starting on Sept. 3. The chamber is seeking applicants for the full-time reservationist position, to start in September and for the part-time reservationist, starting in November.

The chamber brochure was discussed and Robin mentioned that the chamber is still accepting ads from chamber businesses. Please contact the chamber office immediately about this, if you have not already done so.

Mollycodd activities were highlighted and we can report that every activity of the chamber was a success due to the tremendous volunteer efforts that went into it. We organized a five-mile road race and one-mile fun run, with more than 170 participants. We sold lobster rolls and soft drinks on the common. Bill Barter, director, organized the lumberjack competition. Sue Burnham, Paula Gillies and Lynn Hutchins organized the "Wheel of Fortune" game of chance on the common. Thanks to WCBB-TV, the chamber was able to borrow the Sesame Street character costumes. Volunteers from the community wore the costumes and were a great "hit" in the parade. We also worked with LeClerc Management of South Paris to bring Ronald MacDonald to the festivities and finally, a favorite event of many has been the Moloket Mixers Square Dance Exhibition. It was a busy day for the chamber of commerce.

Health insurance was a topic of discussion. We will be sending out a mailing with our next newsletter on the availability of health insurance through the United Chambers Insurance Company.

The chamber is considering having a lobster roll booth at the Andover Old Home Day, Aug. 5.

Bill Riley, chairman of our Big E committee reported that plans are being made with the Oxford Hills Chamber of Commerce to again attend this great fair. Our chamber is actively seeking enthusiastic volunteers to attend the show and work in our booth. Lodging is paid for and there is also a travel and meal allowance. If you are interested in this project, contact the chamber office or call Bill Riley at 665-2228.

SONGO FOOD SALE

The Songo Cemetery Association will hold its annual food sale at the Bethel I.G.A. store Friday morning, Aug. 14 at 10 a.m.

We wish to give Special Thanks to our family, many friends and to Richard Felt and Friends Band for the wonderful surprise 50th Wedding Anniversary Party that was given us on June 3.

It was a wonderful occasion and God bless each and everyone of you who made this possible.

So. Woodstock

By OLIVE R. DAVIS

A celebration for Esther Davis's birthday which falls on July 17 was held at Town and Country Saturday evening July 15. This was instigated by Edith Deegan and relatives. Those attending were Patsy Tibbetts, daughter Jackie and friend Timothy Kennagh and Neil Tibbetts, Phyllis Stevens, Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Deegan, Mr. and Mrs. Erhard Twitcheil, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Redman, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Deegan and daughter Michelle, Leona Farnum, Olive Davis, Edith Deegan and the guest of honor, Esther Davis. After the evening meal was enjoyed a cake, made by Patricia Tibbetts, with ice cream was enjoyed. Esther received gifts from the group after the meal. The Town and Country Restaurant is in Shelburne, N.H. The table was decorated with a big bouquet of flowers which her daughter Patricia brought.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Andrews visited Olive Davis Sunday July 16. Arthur Mowed the little lawn. They had dinner with me, and then we took a ride around North, South and Twitcheil Ponds before they returned home.

We caught a coon that has been tearing up the waste bags in my shed. He was taken off a long way from here and let out in the woods. I hope he never comes back.

Kristina Miclon has been ill with a temperature this week which acted like flu.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Brooks, Esther Davis, Olive Davis, Bertha Benoit, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Felt, Lucille Robbins and Florence Gustafson attended the Franklin Grange talent show Monday night. The next meeting will be Hobo night. Be sure you don't dress up. You're all Hobo's. Let's have fun.

Devin Andrews had a birthday dinner with me on Tuesday. It was his day.

Olive Risko and her father J. Everett Howe also attended Grange Monday night.

Stanley Koskela who was in Combat Engineer Service in Northern Highland in Vietnam and was wounded in action in 1970, and is confined to a wheelchair because of 100 percent disability, has just received six medals after 19 years waiting. He lives here in South Woodstock. His brother Ken Koskela gave me this report for which I wish to thank him. I wish more would do that.

JAMBOREE BOUND. Life Scouts, Adam Craig, center, and Patrick Harrington are packed and ready to set off for the National Scout Jamboree in Fort A.P. Hill, Virginia. The trip will include tours of Washington, D.C., Annapolis, Md and Gettysburg, Pa. The scouts will be accompanied by adult leaders Dewaine Craig, left, and Ray Harrington (not shown).

Esther Davis and daughter Patricia Tibbetts attended a birthday party held for Ryan Johnson who celebrated his first birthday Friday, July 21, at his parents Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Johnson's home. Jackie Tibbetts and friend Tim Kennagh, also attended the party.

Esther Davis had dinner with me Sunday. Then she took me and Vera Buck for an afternoon ride through Evans Notch and home through Fryeburg and Bridgton. We called at Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Andrews' who weren't at home, but Mark Andrews was there so I talked with him. They were planning a get-together for Arthur's birthday which fell on July 24.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Miclon and Mr. and Mrs. Michael Miclon, of Hartford, went to the White Mountains camping out over the weekend. They hiked on some of the trails, making their headquarters at Hastings. They also were at the Basin where they did some canoeing. Jim was chief cook on the trip. Lucky girls. Who washed the dishes? I wonder.

Alishia, Amanda and Ashley Miclon spent their weekend with their grandparents in Buckfield, Ray and Mary Miclon. They were able to enjoy swimming in grandpa's swimming pool and a cookout was enjoyed at mealtime. Alishia and Amanda Miclon have a tent in their yard which they have enjoyed sleeping in nights this last week. Esther Davis and I were in Fryeburg and Bridgton Tuesday.

Newry

By AMY HANSCOM

The Ladies Circle will meet Aug. 7 at 7:30 p.m., at the home of Louise Leamon. Members are reminded to bring something for "Show and Tell." Ladies Circle members Louise Tetley, Gilberte Seeley, Sylvia Wight, and Olive Anderson went to the Madison Inn for dinner July 20. The ladies reported a "delicious meal."

Olive Anderson, Gilberte Seeley and Louise Tetley all called on Freda Robertson at Stephens Memorial Hospital, Norway, last week. Freda is reported to be doing fine and returned home Thursday following surgery.

Karlene Bachelder, Betsy Clark, Louise Tetley, Gilberte Seeley, and Olive Anderson were at Oxford Lanes, Rumford, bowling July 26. Karlene was high on triple with one string of 104. Betsy was high on single with one string of 106.

After receiving an inquiry as to the effect of the Sunday River Ski Area valuation on the school assessments, Selectman Roger Hanscom, has compiled the following figures for the assessments for the five towns in SAD #44. Hanscom stressed that these figures were in no way intended as a "pulsedown" for the ski area, but were to show the benefits the other four towns received because of the ski area. Approximately 80 percent of the total valuation of the town is skiway related. Since there would be some valuation to this property without the ski area, a figure of 70 percent was used in compiling these figures. A reduction of 70 percent in valuation would cut Newry's 1989 state valuation from $51,100,000 to $15,330,000 and the percentage of assessment from 23.28 percent to 8.34 percent. This would reduce the assessment for Newry for FY90 from $562,716 to $201,591, a decrease of $361,125. State valuations of the other four towns would remain the same. This would increase Andover's percentage from 14.52 percent and the assessment of $73,723. The 70 percent valuation decrease would mean a loss of $442,621 in taxes for Newry for the calendar year 1989.

The projected state valuation for Newry is $70,200,000 for 1990, up from $51,100,000 in 1989. 1990 valuations are not available at this time. In 1989 only ten of the 36 towns in Oxford County had higher State Valuations than Newry's $51,100,000; Bethel $59,900,000; Denmark $67,100,000; Fryeburg $104,100,000; Lovell $96,650,000; Norway $125,050,000; Otisfield $56,850,000; Oxford $99,400,000; Paris $115,300,000; Rumford $118,500,000; Watford $52,360,000. Four of these ten towns are lower than Newry's proposed 1990 state valuation.

The Selectmen met Tuesday morning. Sigmund Sysko, Chairman of the Solid Waste Committee, reported that he would attend a Waste Management Ad-

SPANISH EXCHANGE STUDENTS and their host families heap up goodies for their final potluck supper before the 19 youths and four adult advisors departed for Spain last week. The Tuesday evening dinner was followed by a chance to try out square dance steps demonstrated by the Molokkett Mixers. I hope this warm weather suits everyone. Doing as little as possible makes me sweat.

June 24 Faye Abbott's folks, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Newton, celebrated their 50th anniversary at Mechanic Falls and then Harlan and Faye Abbott took her parents to Nova Scotia for four days. They said the weather was beautiful.

Don't forget Saturday, August 5, is a dance at West Paris Grange Hall. Richard Felt and Company will play, there will be prizes and home made pies. Carroll Record, who has done quite a bit of work for us this summer, had his knee operated on at Stephens Memorial Hospital. Now he has infection. Don't get discouraged, Carroll.

Kenneth Vatcher from Massachusetts brought his son, Peter to spend several days with his uncle, Joe Vatcher. Callers at the Nathan Isles this past week have been Jean Thayer, Bath, and Duncan, Mary Nicholson, son Winston and his son; Phyllis Plourde and Pauline, Sears, Mass. They took Florence Isley, 102, back to visit for several days.

Callers at the Lawrences have been Odell Heath and Joe Vatcher, who brought new string beans. Everyone is canning or freezing beans. Joe also brought some bees.

NEWS FROM

Adult Education

Change, Conflict, and Relationships: A seminar for community and family members will be offered by the SAD #44 Adult and Community Education program and the Bethel/NTL Liaison Committee on Aug. 18 and 19.

The seminar will focus on the changes, conflicts and relationships involved in communities, community activities, family life or on the job when differences of opinion inevitably arise. Participants will explore the sources of conflict and effective ways of dealing with it in a seminar for adult learners in the SAD #44 area.

Edith Seashore of National Training Labs, and a long-time summer resident of Bethel, will bring her exceptional skills and her love of Bethel and its environs to this learning experience on Friday evening, Aug. 18, 7-10, and Saturday, Aug. 19, 8:30-4:30, in Hanscom Hall Library, Gould Academy, Bethel.

The fee is $25 per person, and includes coffee and juice. Participants should bring a lunch for Saturday. To register, contact the SAD #44 Adult and Community Education office, 324-2780, prior to Aug. 11.

REPUBLICAN SUMMER MEETING

The public is invited to join members of the Oxford County Republican Committee at their August meeting, to be held at the South Paris Fire Hall, Tuesday, Aug. 8.

A mix 'n mingle hour will begin at 6 p.m. and a pot-luck supper will be served at 7 p.m. The summer meeting will immediately follow the supper.

At the June meeting of the County Republicans, several legislative bills were discussed, including L.D. 1189, the state proposal to take over the county jails. County Commissioner Norman K. Ferguson explained details of the bill and the Committee as a whole agreed to oppose it.

Further discussion on legislative proposals will take place at the August meeting, as well as the planning of future fundraising and educational events.

Upton

By ARLINE BERNIER

Lou, of Lincoln Plantation, stood by his two way radio during the recent forest fire near Dr. Barnes home on Lane Hill to co-operate with and assist Upton officials handling the crisis.

Mike Lewitt cleared an area around the burning slash with his dozer, a major saving factor as was early detection and action by Cindy and Jeff who were horseback riding in the area.

The Andover and Errol fire departments, the Forestry Service with a helicopter, James River base camp men and equipment, three and four wheelers and several townspeople and other personnel were on the site and instrumental in keeping this fire from destroying Upton homes and woodlands. The amount of acreage burned is miniscule compared to west coast areas going up in flames, but if one loses his home he is an expensive, expensive place, and his woodland be it many acres or one or two for shade trees it adds up to the same total—everything.

The fire did little damage but a great threat remains with dry conditions, much cut-over land and dry slash and the unresolved series of house fires in nearby Jefferson.

The planning board met Monday evening. Chairman Pat Angevine was late due to an emergency, so selectman Laurie French opened the meeting. The old business was taken care of when Pat arrived, thus reviewed. Under new business a request to put fill around a bridge on Mill Road was discussed and it was agreed that more information would be necessary. Discussion of possible public beaches was discussed. A request from Mr. Santososa for a trailer to be installed was checked and denied. After the meeting adjourned a short informal discussion of Maine Street '90, other community matters, and the church and Ladies' Aid organizations ensued.

Mardie Edwards took her four grand-

FEED GRAIN COMMENTS SOUGHT

The U.S. Department of Agriculture is formulating plans for the 1990 Feed Grain Program. Farmers and other persons interested in corn, sorghum, oats and barley are invited to submit recommendations for the percentage reduction level and other provisions, Lester H. Bailey, Chairperson of the Oxford County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service said.

Feed grain producers may comment on whether the program should contain an optional land diversion provision, a marketing loan provision, and whether an inventory reduction program should be in effect if a marketing loan is implemented. "The extent of these requirements should be included in the remarks," Mr. Bailey said. The minimum acreage reduction level is 12.5 percent and the maximum is 20 percent. The feed grain remarks may also contain statements on whether loans and purchases should be available to producers who cut their corn for silage, whether milling barley should be exempt from an acreage reduction program, and whether combined or separate feed grain crop acreage bases should be used for implementing the acreage reduction and paid land diversion payments.

Other 1990 program decisions involve target prices, premiums and discounts for grades, classes and other qualities, county loans rates, commodity eligibility and other provisions to carry out a loan and purchase program for feed grains.

The minimum corn target price is $2.75 per bushel. The proposed target price per bushel for grain sorghum is $2.61, oats $1.45 and, if designated by the Secretary, barley $2.36.

"Recommendations for the 1990 Feed Grain Program must be received in Washington, D.C. by Sept. 5 to be considered," the ASOS official said. Letters should be addressed to the Director, Commodity Analysis Division, USDA/ASCS, Room 3741-S, P.O. Box 2415, Washington, D.C. 20013.

CHARLTON HESTON FOR CONTEL

Some companies will tell you how hard they work to serve their customers. But we'd rather let our customers be the judge of that. That's why we introduced the Customer Satisfaction Index, a "no holds barred" survey conducted by an independent organization.

It asks customers to rate us in critical areas of service. And instead of taking a survey once in a blue moon, we take it once a month. So even though we got good marks last month, we have to answer to you again this month. That's the whole idea behind the Customer Satisfaction Index.

If we go out of our way to get your comments, we'll go out of our way to live by them.

Medicine Packaging Improves Compliance

Child-resistant medicine containers were introduced several years ago in an attempt to reduce the incidence of medicine poisonings among children. More recently, product packages have been designed to protect products from the time medicines leave the manufacturer until they are purchased by consumers.

Many prescription and non-prescription medicines are not taken correctly. Drug companies have responded to this problem by introducing medicine packaging designed to promote the safe and appropriate use of their products. One of the latest advances in packaging is compliance packaging which helps ensure that products are taken as they are prescribed. An example of compliance packaging is the blister pack—one or more doses of the same medicine mounted on a card or inside a dial-pack. Having all doses displayed serves as a reminder of doses which remain to be taken and the time of each dose.

Another attempt at improving compliance is special containers for eye drop medicines. At least one manufacturer provides drops in a container that informs users of the next dose due to be given by viewing a dial located on the container top.

Andover
By HELEN SALWAY

Andover Wood Products hosted a benefit supper for Marsha Hutchins July 22. Winners for the raffles were as follows: box of chocolates from Bartash, Donna Bernard; gift certificate from Carlisle's, Jenny Martin; gift certificate from Mountaintop Country Crafts, Betty Davis; "Footprints" picture from Newberry's, Priscilla Hodgkins; certificate from Akers Ski Shop, Cathy Cronin; car wash system from True Value, Grace Simmons; one lead board ends and two jackets from Andover Wood, Carol Morton; floral arrangement from Nellie's Weeds 'n Things, Kelly Jordan; siphon from Wagon Wheel, made by Ida Davis went to Jenny Martin; couch pillows to Connie Easter.

Old Home Day activities are getting loose ended up. Chaperones are needed for the Teen Dance on Friday night. Admission is $2 as the disk jockey and deputy need to be paid. There will also be refreshments for sale.

Joyce Fraser and Shirley Gammon have a queen size Amish style quilt to be raffled off. They have a quilt show with many new quilts or rather old ones never shown before at the town hall.

For those who like to bake try your hand at the pie bake contest, Angelo Katsos will present slide pictures on Indians he has actual experiences with.

The Old Fashioned Clothes Show is back again, a sight you really have to see. The Flower Show is at its height with lovely arrangements and the Ladies Aides are working on home made food and craft items. The Firemen are getting ready to muster and the arm wrestlers are flexing their muscles. The Antique Autos are revving up their motors. The Flea Market is jumping and you can jump over to the library to see books for sale. Gerry Schuchter and Angelo Katsos have photos for display also at the library. Door prizes will be drawn in the afternoon. Watching over the big event will be a live broadcast by WITM who will be perched on our rejuvenated bandstand. A dance at the fire station tops off Saturday night.

Sunday starts out with an Old Home service at the church and a Horse Show by the Ellis River Riders Club. See you there!

Kathy Parker to speak on living with AIDS

Kathy Parker, nurse and counselor at the Bethel Area Health Center, will speak on AIDS and services offered for people living with AIDS on Aug. 2 at the Rumford Community Hospital.

At this meeting, which is open to the public, Ms. Parker will be part of the informational program of the Community AIDS Awareness Program sponsored by the students and adults of the greater Rumford area.

Boise-Cascade will provide a 30-minute video for the same meeting. The video "AIDS: Everything You Wanted to Know, But Were Afraid to Ask" is a part of the corporation's AIDS program and is created for employee and family education.

The 17 towns which make up the surrounding area are Andover, Bethel, Bryant Pond, Byron, Canton, Carthage, Dixfield, Frye, Hanover, Locke Mills, Mexico, Milton Plantation, Newry, Peru, Roxbury, Rumford and Wald.

A planning committee for the Community AIDS Awareness Program (C.A.A.P.) is comprised of Dennis Arsenault, Burt deFrees, Marie Fortier, Andrea Viver, Eric Laperle, Rich Kent, Dr. Jerrold Cohen, and Jackie Kilbreth. The planning committee, working in cooperation with Rumford Community Hospital and Boise-Cascade, has received educational support from the Center for Disease Control in Augusta, the Auburn Red Cross, Androscoggin Home Health, and the Portland AIDS Project. The committee plans a variety of informational events for the public, as well as entertainment events at which educational material will be available.

The conference room of the Rumford Community Hospital is the location for the Aug. 2 public meeting, which will begin at 7 p.m.

THE MAINE PUBLICITY BUREAU opened a temporary information center in Bethel last week. The kiosk, on loan from Sunday River Ski Resort, is located in the parking lot of The Only Place, on Rte. 2. It offers tourists information on the Bethel area and on the rest of the state. The new booth replaces the state information center that had operated for years in Gilead. The booth is being staffed by local people, paid by the Publicity Bureau.

Soil and water district awarded three new grants

In 1983 the 111th Legislature created a "Fund to encourage local soil and water conservation projects." (12 MRSA sec V, s 205 & 206). Each year since then the Legislature has appropriated money to be dispersed to conservation districts periodically by the Soil and Water Conservation Commission on a competitive basis to one or more of the soil and water conservation districts for funding of innovative soil and water conservation projects.

The Oxford County Soil and Water Conservation District will receive funds to support three projects. One project will be a joint project between the Oxford County and Cumberland County districts.

Challenge Grant 1 "Goal Oriented Curriculum, Environmental Conservation Education" is a joint project between the two districts. The objective of grant 1 is focused on helping students become knowledgeable about their environment and its associated problems, and developing an appreciation of environmental resources.

Grant 2 "Conservation Awareness through the Use of Television." The objective of grant 2 is to improve public awareness of district programs and conservation issues.

Grant 3 "Riverbank Stabilization-Town of Canton." The objective of grant 3 is to demonstrate the effective use of vegetative measures in controlling riverbank erosion in Canton.

MUSIC AT NORTH WATERFORD

On Sunday, Aug. 6 at the North Waterford Church, a concert of music for harpsichord and voice will be held at 4 p.m. The concert will feature Audrey Green, harpsichordist with the Chamber Music Festival in North Bridgton, and Marsha Hogan, soprano, who lives in Hartford, Conn., and is a frequent soloist with various chamber music groups in Connecticut and New York. Their program will feature songs by the Baroque composers, Henry Purcell and Maria von Paradis, and solo works for harpsichord.

The artists will also perform folksongs from Ireland, and a piece for harpsichord written by the Australian composer, Ann Carr-Soyd.

The concert in North Waterford is a benefit for the church and will feature a pot luck supper afterwards at the Greens' residence.

RUMFORD PT. CHURCH SUPPER

The Ladies Aids of the Rumford Point Church will have a supper Saturday, Aug. 12. Seating 5-8:30 p.m. Menu consists of baked beans, casseroles and homemade pies. Dinner committee consists of Tina Ramsey, Carol Murray, Barbara Barnes and Diane Roberts. Diningroom, Louise Morton, Clean up, Randy Mawhinny and John Blanchard. Proceeds will help defray the cost of painting the church.

KIMBALL REUNION

The annual reunion of the Kimballs of Maine again will be held at the Bethel Historical Society's Moses Mason House on Aug. 20.

Registration will begin at 10 a.m. and refreshments will be available. Those attending who have genealogy questions are asked to bring them in writing. Mrs. Mary F. Champe, of Rumford Center, and Mrs. Agnes Haines, of Bethel, will assist on queries. Mrs. Champe is bringing to exhibit an interesting chart members of her family have recently made to show their family tree. Others who may have made genealogical charts are encouraged to bring them as well.

It is asked that those who come try to bring a good usable item to be used in a raffle.

Those who wish to share an interesting family anecdote will have an opportunity during the program.

The speaker, a North Waterford native, will be dynamic John Kimball, teacher at Leavitt Institute (Turner) whose students competing in the Odyssey of the Mind Program, have for past five years brought home the State Championship. His topic is: "Odyssey of the Mind—New Alternatives in Teaching Directions."

For information write or telephone: Mrs. Elizabeth Mason Carter, P.O. Box 44, West Bethel, Maine 04286 or 1-207-826-2943; or Dr. Stanley R. Howe, Dr. Moses Mason House, P.O. Box 12, Bethel, Maine 04217, or 824-2808.

Mrs. Agnes Haines and Mrs. Floribel Haines attended the initiation of eight new members of Alder River Grange at the Oxford Grange in Welchville July 22. Mrs. Ruby Coolidge, Mrs. Teresa Walker and Nathan, Michael Cross, Mrs. Valora Tuominen and Brianna visited Mr. and Mrs. Chester Kimball July 24. Mrs. Paul Kimball was in Rumford July 24.

Enrique Gomez, of Malaga, Spain, who has been a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Andre Bernier for two weeks returned home July 26.

Miss Peggy Nash, of England and Bryant Pond, visited Mrs. Jack Chappie recently. I have been spelling Mrs. Chappie's name wrong and I apologize.

Mrs. Josephine Tyler, of Dixfield, picked up Mrs. Cindi Cox, Miss Chick Fitzmorris and me to go to the Maine State Theater on the Bowdoin Campus in Brunswick to see the play "The King and I" with K.K. Preece and Mark Jacoby in the lead roles. It was very good as usual. We had dinner at the Bonanza in Oxford. I attended a birthday party for Mrs. Mary Stearns at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stearns in Rumford Corner on July 23. We enjoyed watching the mentolks play ball with the three little

Rotary Club notes

The Bethel Rotary Club met on Tuesday, Aug. 1 for the regular meeting.

It being the first week of the month, the meeting dealt in club business. President Bruce Powell recapped the Rotary's full month of activities, including the very successful auction on Mollycoddett Day, the Spanish-American youth exchange's two-week visit and last week's visit by District Governor Ron LaBrie.

The board of directors will be meeting next Monday, Aug. 7, in Bruce's office. Future plans include the well-known Pancake Breakfast, this year scheduled for Nov. 19 at Gould Academy.

Last week's visit by District Governor Ron LaBrie was an informative and inspirational one. He was guest speaker at the morning meeting as well as at the Tri-Club (with Rumford and Oxford Hills) social Tuesday evening.

children, Erin and Cory Stearns and Eric Westleigh all under six years old. The children did very well hitting the ball too. On July 26 Mrs. June Stearns, of Rumford Corner, took me to Lewiston to see Dr. Kenneth Wolfe. On the way home we ran into a heavy thunderstorm in Norway and South Paris.

ANNOUNCEMENT — PAVING BY TOWN OF BETHEL

During the week of August 7-11, 1989 the following roads and streets will be paved:

1. Flat Road - from the Walker residence to the Mt. View Store.

2. East Bethel - Middle Interval - starting from the Swan Hill Road (Buck Farm Road) for a distance of one mile towards the village.

3. Chandler Hill Circle.

4. Riverside Street.

Because the paving will consist of cold mix and because it will be applied during the warm weather, the paving will be soft for several days before it hardens. For this reason, the Town is requesting that people drive carefully over the pavement so as not to damage the soft pavement. It is especially important that people do not squeal or burn their tires on the pavement as this causes extensive long term damage to the road pavement. Your cooperation and help on this matter will be greatly appreciated by the Town. Thank you.

Rodney C. Lynch
Town Manager

Bethel Historical Society publishes cemetery book

Dr. Stanley R. Howe, Director of the Bethel Historical Society, announced this week that the Society has published a book on Bethel cemeteries, recording inscriptions on gravestones from the earliest days through 1988.

A project of more than a year in the making, the data for this volume was compiled by Mildred Jackson and Agnes Haines and includes an interpretive overview by Dr. Howe.

The 128 page paperback is printed on acid-free paper and features an alphabetical listing of all known graves in Bethel's fifteen public and private cemeteries. The book is expected to be of particular interest to genealogists and other researchers as well as collectors of materials relating to western Maine.

It is available at the Society headquarters, the Dr. Moses Mason House, during regular business hours (Monday-Friday, 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.) and during July and August on Saturday and Sunday, 1-4 p.m. Anyone wishing to order should write the Society at P.O. Box 12, Bethel, Maine 04217 or call (207) 924-2906.

Annual quilt show planned for later this month

The third annual quilt show for the Bethel area will be held at the Middle Intervale Meeting House on Aug. 26 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

This 1816 Historic Building, which has been recently restored, will provide the aesthetic setting so deserving of these quilts.

Mary Keniston, chairperson of the show, has selected the following people to work on the quilt show.

Advertising will be under the direction of Barbara Kuzky, Arlene Brown and Virginia Keniston. Directions to the show will be placed in strategic areas with one sign at the junction of Route 28 and Middle Intervale Road, erected by Oscar and Louise Annis and another at the Rumford Point Bridge Road to Middle Intervale by Don and Arlene Brown.

The calling committee for securing the quilts is Shirley Clough, Virginia Keniston, Arlene Brown, Geraldine Howe and Mary Keniston.

There will be craft tables outside (weather permitting) and anyone interested in having a table should contact Shirley Clough, chairperson, at 836-3161.

Quilts will be accepted between 2 and 3 p.m. on Friday, Aug. 25. Friday night security will be provided by Alden and Mabel Kennett. Quilts should be picked up on Saturday afternoon by 3:30 p.m.

Maine senators urge more funding for Acadia

Maine Senators Bill Cohen and George Mitchell are asking Congress to allow Acadia National Park to keep half of the revenue that park visitors pay in entrance fees instead of turning most of it over to the federal government.

In a letter to Senator Robert Byrd, chairman of the Appropriations Committee, the Senators said it is "crucial that the Park be allowed to retain a significant portion of its fee revenues for desperately needed maintenance activities."

The entrance fee was introduced nationwide in 1987 to help offset the costs of the rapidly rising number of visitors. Half of the money was supposed to remain with the park where it was collected, with the rest earmarked for the Park Service's general operating budget.

Last year, however, at the insistence of the House, Congress redirected most of the park fees to Interior Department programs, allowing Acadia to keep only $163,000 of the more than $1 million it collected.

This year, the House has cut Acadia's receipts even further. The recently-passed House Interior Appropriations bill for fiscal 1989 allows each park to keep fee receipts equal to 10 percent of its annual budget. In the case of Acadia, that figure is $350,000, which is roughly the amount it costs the park to collect the fees.

In essence, this means that Acadia stands to gain no benefits in terms of maintenance or operations from the fees, an approach we find ludicrous and unfair," the Senators said.

They pointed out that Acadia now hosts the greatest number of visitors per acre nationwide, and that the number of visitors has increased rapidly in the last decade. Between 1978 and 1988, visitation increased from 3.1 million to 4.7 million, with 6 million visitors projected by 2000.

"Yet in that same 10-year period, the Park's budget did not increase at all in terms of real dollars, and the Park is beginning to show signs of serious neglect as a result," the Senators said in their letter.

"It is our belief that the original fee distribution formula, in which 50 percent of the revenues are kept by the Park, that collected them, remains the only fair approach to the fee collection system nationwide."

The Maine Senators also wrote to Sen. Byrd earlier this year to ask that additional budget funds be provided for Acadia because of last year's change in the fee distribution formula.
